

SERVICE TO THOSE WHO SUFFER

Jesus Christ had shown a unique healing compassion toward the sick and the suffering. He was the one who launched the universal campaign against all forms of affliction, not only through the miracles he performed, but also through the attitude of concern and care that characterized his life toward all those who were suffering in whatever form.

And He gave His apostles the task and the power to do likewise. As Christians, we share in the same mission. We may not be able to perform miracles, but what is expected of us is what we do all in our power to meet their need for understanding, solidarity, protection, medical care, food and love.

While suffering is a sign, and often an effect of the presence of sin in the world, care for those who suffer is a clear sign presence of God's Kingdom among us. It is one of the resplendent aspects of love of neighbor – the love that bends mercifully on every human being in difficulty, seeing in him or her not a stranger or an enemy, but a brother or sister in need. This is what made Jesus the "DIVINE HEALER." This is what makes us his disciples.
